Security cookies, visitor choices and external services.

Draft for management review

Version 1.1 | Prepared 2 October 2026 | Effective only after approval

Prepared for the rebuilt Marine RoboTech site on ChatGPT Sites. Technical observations were made on 29 September 2026.

RoboticsHub Sweden AB | Organisation no. 559595-3000

1. Your choices

The current Marine RoboTech application has no optional analytics, advertising or social-media tracking cookies. There are no optional categories to enable, so no consent banner is shown for those features.

You can inspect, block or delete cookies in your browser settings. Blocking security cookies may cause extra checks or prevent access. Continued browsing is not consent to optional tracking.

If optional tracking is added, it will stay disabled until you actively choose it. Accept and reject choices will be equally accessible, with a footer control to change or withdraw consent. This policy will be updated before that change goes live.

2. What cookies are

A cookie is a small item of information stored by a website through your browser. Similar technologies can include browser local storage and embedded tracking tools. Cookies can support necessary delivery and security, remember preferences, measure use or enable advertising; their purpose determines how they should be handled.

3. Current cookie inventory

| Cookie / provider                                  | Purpose and information                                                                                                                                                                                             | Lifetime and scope                                                                                                                                                             |
|----------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| __cf_bm / Cloudflare, through the hosting platform | Bot protection: encrypted information used to assess automated traffic; may contain a session identifier when the provider's anomaly detection is enabled. Used for site security, not Marine RoboTech advertising. | Expires after 30 minutes of continuous inactivity according to Cloudflare. Observed on the homepage and Contact page with domain chatgpt.site, Secure and HttpOnly attributes. |

The hosting platform supplies __cf_bm for bot protection. Cloudflare documents it as necessary for that function. It is not added by Marine RoboTech application code.

Source review found no application cookies, browser-storage preferences, analytics tags, advertising pixels or embedded video trackers. Anonymous HTTP checks of the homepage and Contact page confirmed __cf_bm. Exceptional security challenges, signed-in sessions and every browser state were not tested.

The inventory must be reviewed after hosting or domain changes. Other provider cookies are not listed as active without evidence of use on this site.

4. Necessary cookies and consent

Necessary delivery and security cookies are distinguished from optional tracking. Under Swedish cookie rules, the consent exception is limited to storage or access needed for communication or for a service the visitor requests. Optional measurement or marketing must not be reclassified as necessary just because it is useful to the operator.

The current disclosed security cookie is used for bot protection. If that purpose changes, or an optional service is added, the configuration and consent mechanism will be reassessed before publication.

5. External links, email and hosting

Videos, partner websites and externally hosted documents open only when you follow their links. The site does not preload embedded YouTube players. Once you visit another service, its own cookie and privacy terms apply.

Email links open your email application. They do not submit an enquiry through this website or set an enquiry-tracking cookie. Your email provider processes a message when you send it.

The site is hosted using OpenAI's ChatGPT Sites infrastructure with Cloudflare delivery and security. The providers may process technical request information in server logs and may process data internationally. Server logs are distinct from browser cookies; see the Privacy Statement and provider notices for the relevant context.

6. Scope, contact and review

This policy covers the Marine RoboTech website hosted on ChatGPT Sites. It will also cover marinerobotech.com and www.marinerobotech.com when they serve this site and their cookie behaviour has been checked. It does not cover a Wix-hosted version or the separate UWL website.

Proposed operator: RoboticsHub Sweden AB, organisation number 559595-3000, Bjerehov 1A, 237 34 Bjärred, Sweden. Contact: info@roboticshub.se; registered-email alternative for privacy enquiries: cxg111sw@gmail.com.

Revised 2 October 2026; effective after operator approval and publication. Review at least annually and after changes to hosting, domains, analytics, forms, sign-in or embedded content.
